THE WOOSTER VOICE

WOOSTER, OHIO, MAY 31, 1911

No. 31

EXTRACT FROM A COLLEGE MAN'S DIARY.

I joined in a crowd of churchgoers and just as the church bell began tolling took my seat in the college chapel. The pews were fast becoming filled. The girls trooped in from the Dorms. New hats, new gowns, bright in spring colors, could be told by even such an inexperienced eye as mine on every side.

"That's such a pretty suit, Ethel," one girl said and I almost felt like replying, "Yes, gorgeous."

Said another, "Grace, I think your hat is perfectly lovely." "Oh dazzling," I whispered to myself.

They took their seats stiffly, as if afraid they would crush their gowns. They rose to the first hymn and carefully smoothed out, as a wet dog lays his hair by shaking. Dress was all they thought; dress and the effect of dress. All religious sentiment seemed wholly lacking. Gayety, not piety seemed to abound in and almost fill the church. The service went on. It was a beautiful service. The chapel, grand with its floral gifts was filled with its sound. The music rang out sweetly, joyously. The sermon was good, delivered in eloquence and perfectly rhetorical expression. Yet the music seemed pompous and the sermon too refined and exact. It was not a service to God; it was simply Easter service, beautiful, joyous and dressy. It was not a meeting consecrated to the Lord; it was rather consecrated to show, it seemed to me.

In the evening I went down town to church. I sought out a tiny little meeting house in the far end of the village, a German Reformed church. What a contrast it offered to the morning service. The church, small and old fashioned, ugly composed with the chapel, was graced with but few flowers. Easter gowns were there, two in number and these in a back pew. All seemed happy and contented in their service and their creed. The sermon, an Easter sermon, was not so perfect, so precise, so pompously delivered as was the one in the morning. The choir in a few chairs raised above the pulpit, sang not so harmoniously, so sweetly as had the chapel choir. Yet one felt, as he sat there listening, that sermon and song came from the soul, they were the tone, deep expression of religious joy and sentiment. The service was dedicated to the one presiding over the church; it was an evening spent in praising God.

Yes, what a contrast to the morning! Here was religion, here joy in worshiping, here was offered real, pure praise and thanks to the Almighty Father. There, all had seemed pretention, a sort of feigned worship. Was I mistaken? No, for I had taken the testimony of on-

BIG SIX MEET.

Wooster's track representatives did not make a very big showing in the Big Six meet at Columbus. In points, Compton taking third place in the mile run and Donnelly tied for fourth in the high jump. This rather poor standing however cannot be taken as an indication of the relative merits of our team. For instance, Kenyon scored eight points, yet in a dual meet Wooster would easily outclass them. Our men were entered in events in which the fastest men of the state were entered. The meet was a very fast one, especially considering the intense heat and hard track. The Wooster men who did not win anything, all showed good form, beating out many of their competitors. In the relay Wooster drew the outside track so each man had to run the extra width of the track to touch the next man off who then had to run the width of the track back to get the pole. Had it not been for this Wooster would have placed. As it was we missed winning fourth by a few feet. The event of the meet was the two mile race in which Wicoff of State defeated Baker of Oberlin. Baker won the good will of all impartial observers by his sportsmanship and school spirit. Although he knew the hard fight he had on hands, he entered and won the mile run which was pulled off only forty minutes before the two mile race, thus winning the much needed five points for his college but lessening his own chances against his great rival. Wooster men admire that kind of spirit.

The summary:

OBERLIN VS. WOOSTER.

Oberlin was the next victim to be scalped by the Varsity. Although the Oberlin boys pushed the first score across the pan and succeeded in scoring their second and last tally in the 7th inning, by the time the dust of the 9th had blown away, Wooster had piled up 9 runs.

In the fatal 7th our boys clouted the pill for five hits which coupled with two Oberlin errors, netted Wooster six runs in this round.

By this time Nichols was feeling as though he had received his "nickel's" worth and in the 8th was relieved by Andrews, he going to short in Colmery's place.

Reed for Oberlin, made a sensational catch in the 7th, when he caged Eddy's drive between right and center. The bleacherites sure gave him the glad hand, even though it did rob us of a prospective two bagger. "Merry" White was all to the merry, catching a nice game behind the bat and his big stick was in evidence at many stages of the game. "Dutch" as usual, was very stingy with his hits only allowing two, while he had nine strike outs to his credit. This victory is sweet revenge after losing to Oberlin in the basketball season, and while they were then only one point ahead, we got it back at them with interest. Line-up and summary:

ly my eyes. Was I prejudiced? Not so, for to me the chapel is the dearest of all churches. Was I pessimistic,—what is generally called a knocker? I hardly think so, I was happy, healthy and contented with my lot. No, I was not a pessimist. Then, why this difference? To me there is only one reason. The simpler the life of the person, the nearer one lives to God. I do not mean that this bores education and refinement, but I do mean that it excludes forever the vanity of going to church to show off a new gown or hat. I do not say that we should leave off rejoicing, but that we should have joy, at church, not in clothes, but in the Lord. What a contrast. I repeat again and again, what a contrast! Would to God the contrast did not exist.

The Volunteer Band held an open meeting last Sunday. Nina Ellis, the leader, discussed the art of seeing possibilities in people, and the art of encouraging one's friends to do their best. Mr. McDowell, who was called on to speak, gave a short talk on the Edinburg Conference.

CONSTITUTION OF NORTH-EASTERN ORATORICAL LEAGUE.

Article I.

(Name and Object.)

Sec. 1. This organization shall be known as the North-Eastern Oratorical League, and shall consist of Allegheny College, University of Pittsburg, University of Wooster and Ohio Wesleyan University and such other colleges or universities as may be admitted by the unanimous vote of all the institutions composing the league.

Sec. 2. The number of institutions composing the league shall be limited to seven. Institutions applying for admission must notify the Sec.-treas., who shall in turn notify the president and the faculty member of each institution.

Sec. 3. It is the object of this league to develop a high standard of public speaking among college students, and by holding contests to foster a general interest in the art of speech.

Sec. 4. Any institution that shall without valid reason fail to participate in the annual contest shall thereby forfeit its membership.

Article II.

Organization and Officers.

Sec. 1. The official body of this league shall be the duly accredited representatives of the several institutions composing the league assembled in an annual or special meeting.

Sec. 2. Representation at official meeting shall be as follows: one faculty member of the public speaking department and one accredited student from each institution chosen as each institution may determine.

Each duly accredited representative shall have one vote on all questions in business meeting. In the absence of our representative of any institution the other may cast two votes. Upon the request of three or more members the president shall submit by mail within one week of the receipt of such request to all the members of the league, any motion resolution or amendment. Each institution shall through its faculty representative vote one aye or no upon the question submitted within thirty days, and shall send the vote to the president who shall send all votes to the Sec.-Treas., who shall promptly announce the result to all the members of the league.

Sec. 3. The officers of the league shall consist of a president and a sec.-treas. The latter shall be a student member of the institution, where the contest is held during his term of office. These officers shall be chosen at the annual meeting to serve one year thereafter. But in case any officer is unable to serve out his term his institution shall appoint a successor, and shall notify the other colleges of the change.

Sec. 4. It shall be the duty of the president to call and preside over all business meetings.

Sec. 5. The sec.-treas. shall perform the usual duties pertaining to his office and such other duties as the league may require; and shall pay the accounts of the league, pay all bills audited and allowed by the executive committee and keep surplus funds subject to the direction of the executive committee.

Article III.

Contests and Business Meetings.

Sec. 1. The annual contest shall be held the first Friday in May, in each year at such colleges as may be determined by a two thirds vote at the annual business meeting until each institution shall have had the contest once after which the order so established shall be repeated in regular rotation.

Sec. 2. Beginning with 1911 the order for choice of position on the program in the annual contest shall be according to the following schedules:

Sec. 3. The annual business meeting shall be held on the afternoon preceeding the contest or in case of need on the evening of the contest.

Sec. 4. The representatives of a majority of the institutions shall constitute a quorum at the business meetings.

Continued next week

R. S. Douglass, 10, has resigned his position at the local high school for next year and will take up a law course. Dick had a very successful year this year and he has received an excellent offer to return to his present position.

Miss Marie Merchel of Paynesville, O., visited Mead Crooks over the week end.

Mr. Numbers was a visitor at the Sigma House last week.

 INFORMATION CONCERN- ING KENARDEN LODGE. *****

This beautiful building, the first dormitory for young men at Wooster, was built and named by Mrs. John S. Kennedy, of New York, and opened to students September 1911. The purpose was to provide for our students a fire proof college home, with modern improvements, on the college campus. The building is situated on the most commanding site of the college grounds, the extreme north-west corner, overlooking on the west the beautiful Killbuck valley with nothing to mar the landscape. Three of the entrances face east, three south and one southeast. The building is built of white vitrified Kittanning brick and trimmed with terra cotta in harmony with the other buildings of Wooster's beautiful plant.

In order to reserve a room in Kenarden Lodge, a deposit of $5.00 must be paid the treasurer of the University at his office at the time the reservation is made. This amount will be credited on next Semester's bill. Should the student reserving the room be deterred by some unavoidable circumstances from attending the University, this fee will be returned to the student by the Treasurer upon request of the student, if made not later than Sept. 1st. In no case shall the reservation fee be refunded after September 1st. Each student having reserved a room, shall, on or before September 1st, send to the Treasurer an additional amount equal, at least, to one-third of the semester's rent for said room reserved. Unless this be paid on or before September 1st, the Treasurer shall be obliged to consider the reservation of the room surrendered, and shall give the same to another. No room shall be rented for less than one semester, and no student shall be allowed to change his room during the semester for which it is rented. Any student occupying a room for the first semester must give the treasurer ten days' notice before the close of the first semester of his purpose to change rooms or to vacate his present room; otherwise it will be understood that the student in possession of the room expects to retain the same for the second semester and will be held responsible for the rent of the same for the entire second semester.

The choice of rooms is made as follows: On May 3d, at hours fixed by the Treasurer, next year's Senior Class will be given the privilege of first choice, names called alphabetically; the next year's Junior Class will be given second choice; the next year's sophomore class will be given third choice; the next year's Freshman class will be given fourth choice and after that date the remaining rooms are open to those who come in the order of their application.

Students unavoidably absent from the city on the above date may file their application and reservation fee with the Dean of the University, who shall be permitted to act for them.

The rooms of Kenarden Lodge are of three classes: single rooms, two rooms en suite, and three rooms en suite. The average single room occupies approximately 122 square feet; the two rooms en suite 480 square feet; the three rooms en suite 564 square feet.

The rooms are furnished with study table, chairs, book rack, college divans (3 ft. by 6 ft. 4 in.), mattresses, bureaus, with mirrors, or chioniers with mirrors, electric light, electric student lamp and window shades. The linen, bedding, pillows, rugs, and such other conveniences as may be desired by the student are furnished by the occupants. The building is heated and lighted by the central heating plant. The rent of the rooms includes the expense of lighting and heating. The use of lamps, electric plates and chafing dishes, and any other form of fire or light which hazards insurance, is strictly forbidden. Each room is finished in dark mahogany. Picture moulding is provided in each room and no student will be permitted to put nails or tacks in the walls or otherwise deface the plaster or damage the finish of the room.

Students shall care for their own rooms, or arrange with the Treasurer for such help as may be needed for such service at their expense. The ordinary utensils necessary for the care of rooms shall be provided by the occupants.

All damages to the rooms, fixtures or furniture, other than the ordinary wear, will be charged to the occupant of the room. Shades or lamps broken or missing must be replaced at the expense of the occupants. All wall decorations must hang from the picture mouldings. In no case will it be permitted to use glue or paste on the walls or finished wood work.

Each student should provide himself with at least one dozen towels, one-half dozen bath towels, six napkins, which should not be less than 20x20 inches, a napkin ring, one pillow, one half dozen pillow slips, one half dozen sheet for a divan 3ft. by 6 ft. 4 in., one pair of woolen blankets, a comforter, two plain white counterpanes, and rugs for the floor. The owner's name in full should be indelibly marked with a pen or worked in red silk, on all laundry belonging to him.

Bob Smith and "Doc" Lowrie spent Friday night on Chippewa lake. They report that the mosquitoes and the fish divided the honors about squarely and the swimming was magnolious, but the most lasting impression was made by trying to sleep in the boat.

Y. M. C. A.

The Wednesday evening talk by Prof. Seelye on the topic, "To Whom Shall We Go," was based on Peter's famous words recorded in John 6: 68. "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life." Jesus said and did many things that the people did not understand. In many cases he seemed to make no But if the people had tried to understand, probably because he was tempted to make himself king, and so made faith hard by attempting to draw the people up to his level rather than coming down to theirs. But if the people had tried to understand, Jesus would have helped them; instead they went on the assumption that they did understand. Many turned away from him for they believed him to be an impostor. At last Jesus turned to the twelve and asked them if they too will desert him and Peter replied in the words given above.

Today people are leaving the church and are depending on their own strength. Can we afford to be among the number? Until we find a better guide we must cling to Christ. He has the words of eternal life. Such words carry conviction. When we were children we had fed cares, but now we are worried to know how to do in a single day all the duties which press upon us. We can do all that needs be done if we follow Christ's example. He lived in eternity. We can project ourselves into eternity by means of prayer. If, after a season of prayer, we feel refreshed and gratified, we have for a season been beyond time and have been living in eternity. God is never perplexed. Jesus lived close to God and He has never perplexed. God is never in a hurry and never behind time. So it was with Jesus. We may have these blessings by communing with them.

Miss Alice Hutchinson of Freeport was the guest of Miss Beulah Love last Monday.

Miss Mary Dulap was called home to Arlington, N. J. on account the serious illness of her sister.

Y. W. C. A.

Marion Howell took charge of the meeting of Y. W. C. A. last Wednesday evening, and the subject for our thought was timely in itself and furthermore was treated in a very practical manner. The theme as given was "Summer Driftwood for Winter Fire," and if we were to follow out the suggestions wisely made for the months of the coming vacation, we should indeed make worthy preparation for winter days and all the other days of the future. The leader gave over part of the hour to the delegates to the recent Biennial Convention at Indianapolis, and their enthusiastic report of this great conference added much spirit to an already interesting meeting. Those who had the privilege of being at the National Convention were Bess MaGee, Agnes Forman and Frances Scott. No girl in college can afford to miss the inspiration of these last meetings of the year.

ANNUAL PHI GAM DINNER.

What proved to be one of the prettiest and most enjoyable events of the year in college circles, was the party given by the local chapter of Phi Gamma Delta at their home on Beall Ave., Saturday evening. The house was most artistically and handsomely decorated for the occasion. The decorations consisted of southern beech branches, roses, carnations, palms and ferns in abundance. Promptly at seven o'clock an elaborate six course dinner was served. During which most select and delightful music was rendered by a 5-piece orchestra. After the dinner the time was spent in a social way.

Dr. and Mrs. Chalmers Martin chaperoned the happy assemblage.

Among the out of town guests were Misses Burton, Lima, Carmen Ash, of Fostoria, Louise Waddell of Greenfield, Helen Houston of Urbana, Nellie and Alice Franke of Cleveland, Florence Smith of Fremont, Francis Goode of Sydney, Marie Merkel of Cleveland, Messrs. Harry Waite of Mansfield, John McGraw of Bellaire, Jos, Merriam of Fremont.

Rev. R. B. Love, '78, has resigned his charge at Bellville to accept a call to Hayesville, entering upon his new duties last Sabbath.

Supt. Walter Borden of Fredericktown, through Junior at Wooster, completed another gratifying year of work in his home town Thursday night, graduating twenty one young people. Wooster will receive a fair portion of them in September, and would be glad to adopt them all. Mr. Borden is doing a great service to his community and is held in high esteem by every one.

ALUMNI ITEMS.

Ralph D. Garrette, '10, completes this week his first year of teaching in the Shelby public schools, and has liked the work. Many new lessons never learned in college have come to him this year.

At the recent gathering of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in Atlantic City, Wooster men received their full share of committee work, Dr. S. S. Palmer, '87, Columbus, being made the chairman of the Foreign Mission Committee; Dr. G. N. Luecock, '78, on Bills and Overtures; Rev. Alfred C. Ormond, '93, on Polity; Rev. J. C. Hanna, '88, on Church Election; Dr. J. A. Gordon, '81, on Correspondence; Dr. W. M. Grafton, '90, on Temperance; Dr. S. S. Palmer, '87, of the Evangelistic Committee; while several others served on other committees more or less important.

Rev. I. R. Prugh, '96, for some time located at Norton, Kansas, has accepted a charge at Wamego, the same state, and has already entered upon his work.

Among Wooster's consecrated workers there ought to be high rank given Rev. Frank March, '96. After graduation he did heroic work in the academy at West Liberty, working almost for nothing, but leaving a very definite investment of good behind him; then the seminary course, followed by earnest work in the north, and later in the South in the Home Mission field. He is still so engaged, at Grassy Cove, Tenn., having four churches under his care, and as if that were not enough, is also principal of an academy there that is doing a wonderful work for the people of that section of the state. He writes for a young man to assist in this field, and offers him an attractive field in which to make life count for the things that are worth while.

Two years re-election speaks in complimentary terms for Supt. H. A. Lind, '00, at Leipsic, thus starting him on his fourth year of service in that fine little city. Supt. Lind is not breaking down under his strenuous labors, but realizing that it is not good for man to be alone, took to himself a helpmate May 25, in the person of Miss Diehl, of Leipsic, and is now on his wedding trip in eastern Pennsylvania. The Voice and a host of Wooster friends extend congratulations over both these honors that have come to this worthy man.

Prof. L. E. Wolfe gave the commencement address Friday evening to the graduating class in Mantua, "one of the best ever heard in the town," and on Thursday night will perform a like service for the class at Brownhelm, Supt. Frank Cox in charge.

Get your place in line for that 1912 Index—it's great.

The semi-annual conference of the Northern Ohio Union of student volunteers was held in Berea, Saturday and Sunday, the 22 and 23d of April. The Wooster band was represented by eight members.

The University of Missouri is to have a new stadium. The work may be laid out by the students of the school of engineering.

Walter Peck Visits Us; A Welcome Guest.

A throng of friends were seen greeting Walter Peck everywhere he appeared on the campus or in town of Wooster last Friday and Saturday. This hearty reception is expressive of the high regard of his former class mates. Peck left us last year at the end of his sophomore year and went to Hamilton College. He immediately gained a position of prominence there, but on account of a physical break down, was required to leave school after the first semester. We had hoped that he could be persuaded to return to Wooster next fall, but we are afraid that for reasons—all of which he does not care to state—we shall lose to Hamilton this able scholar and gentleman.

A PERTINENT QUESTION.

For this season of the year is the historical germ, "Why don't you speak for yourself?" The class of 1911, with its usual supply of intelligence is prepared to answer even this interrogation. You are to be favored with an opportunity to hear the Seniors speak for themselves in the near future, however, bold and too-good-to-be-true this promise may seem to your startled eyes. It is possible that your expectant longing to see the class play of 1911 has lagged, because you couldn't possibly find out the name of the play? If so, awake, and listen, for the title of this sparkling, entertaining play is "The Ulster." Doubtless this announcement merely increases your excited interest, and that's just what we wanted to do for you. May your keen anticipation wax greater and culminate at the opera house on Monday night, June 12. With the unity of this paragraph so obvious, it is entirely unnecessary to urge any young gentleman to speak for himself, and that promptly.

Mr. and Mrs. Candor, the father and mother of Elisa Candor, '11, and Rob Candor, '12, arrived last Thursday morning from South America, where they have been stationed as missionaries for a number of years. They will spend their furlough in Wooster.

ATHENAEAN.

The first in order was the inauguration of officers for the ensuing year. This was followed by an excellent speech by the Harries. Then the following program was rendered:

Essay, Ananias, Horn.
 Declamations, Seery, Up and Down Old Brandywine.
 Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.
 Orations, Liberty, Kish.
 Extemporaneous class, W. C. Richards, The Bribery Case at Columbus; Sexton, Significance of the Resignation of Diaz; McMasters, What I Saw at the Circus; McClelland, The Prize Fight at Ada.

Circus day did not hinder Athenaeon from having an interesting program. Special effort is being made to have a program out of the ordinary for the next meeting.

John McGraw of Bellaire, O., visited his brother, "Muggsy" at the Ph. Gam House over the week end.

WILLIAM ANNAT

Orland Irwin, through Junior at Wooster with '04, and later a graduate of Case, after three or four years with a big construction company in Cleveland, has resigned to accept a much better position with the Trussed Steel Co., of Detroit. The new position carries with it an increase of 50 per cent in salary over the former one, and the former was good, so that it is easily seen how this Wooster student is climbing up in his profession.

F. W. Barr, '07, graduated at McCormick in May and has now accepted a position as assistant pastor of the Third Presbyterian church in the city of Chicago.
